

The Window Seat

The Window Seat has booked its own musical tickets; sounds influenced by afrobeat, funk and jazz with an altogether melodic and improvisational outlook make this band unique.

The focus is on playing for the music.

Lindsay D'Mello is an accomplished and versatile drummer performing music almost every day involving collective communication, great tunes and a dedicated attitude. Credits include The Petri Dish Project, Bliss Logic, Groove Suppa, Bombay Black and the GG's.

Saxophonist and keyboardist, Tala Faral is truly a gifted 'world' player. His experience in jazz and funk idioms has shaped many a band's sound. He strives for complete expression with the focus on melody. Credits include Sarimanouk in Indonesia, Potomac Jazz Quartet in D.C, and Groove Suppa in Mumbai.

Bassplayer Sonu Sangameswaran has been playing electric bass for over a decade. His global experience spans the sounds of latin, hip-hop, funk and african music integrated with an original sense of groove. Credits include The Vivek Rajagopalan Quartet, Anal Funk, Smoke Signals and Parallel Reality.

Stellar singer, Suman Sridhar joins us in expanding our sound. Suman is a multi-talented singer, actor and songwriter. Together with guitarist, Jeet Thayil, their band "Sridhar-Thayil", has managed to seamlessly meld an old school jazz approach with contemporary sensibilities. With an undergraduate degree in western classical music from Rutgers University, New Jersey, USA and private lessons from Professor Brian McIntosh, Suman's experience with classical choirs, jazz combos and contemporary ensembles are the perfect foil for the Window Seat's sound Her experience playing internationally at the Great Escape festival (Brighton, UK), Southbank Centre (London, UK), Galle Literary Festival (Sri Lanka), Prithvi Theatre Festival (Mumbai) and the Alliance Francaise World Music Day (New Delhi) to name a few points at her diverse experiences! Together, the Window Seat aims to combine its individual talents showcasing music that is forward reaching yet grounded on a solid foundation of jazz, funk and afro-beat.
